

NAPOLEON PINOCCHIO

The emperor with a nose who conquered imagination

In an ordinary piece of dusty plastic, an extraordinary face was hiding...

...and suddenly he came to life! It was him — Napoleon Pinocchio!

I am Napoleon! But also Pinocchio!

Small face, great ambitions!

He set out to conquer the world. With a small face, but with great dreams. "Paris will be mine!"

My army behind me! On to Paris!

But every little lie made his nose grow longer!

It wasn't my fault! I won at Waterloo!

Our enemies are robotoids!

One night he looked into the mirror and wondered...

Who am I really? An emperor? A puppet? Or just a piece of plastic with a big imagination?

Then the good fairy Colombina appeared and said:

You are not just a puppet, Napoleon Pinocchio! You are proof that an amazing story can be hidden inside every ordinary thing — if we look at it with imagination and love.

And when he stopped lying and began to dream sincerely, his nose returned to normal.

I will not lie anymore! I'd rather dream!

That is the most beautiful story!

Since then, he no longer conquers countries, but hearts with imagination.

The world is full of ordinary things, waiting to turn into fairy tales!

Some see Pinocchio in him, some Napoleon, and some even Dumbo... And everyone is right!

One face — infinitely many stories!

NAPOLEON

PINOCCHIO

DUMBO

...because imagination knows no boundaries, just like our dreams within a dream.

You too have a fairy-tale character hidden inside you. You only need to look a little closer!

MORAL:

The world is full of ordinary things that can become extraordinary if we look at them with the eyes of a child, with imagination and with love.
